Sir:

I have the honour to inform you herewith, that a gentleman, who was more than thirty years in China, charged me with the sale of his most important collection of Chinese coins, which no doubt is a unique collection of its kind.

The collection is in all periods equally good and the preservation of the specimens is a very fine one. There exists also a most detailed, written catalogue with a very exact description of every coin. The collection itself is now in Antwerp, its price is $ 15000.- (fifteen thousand dollars.)

Please kindly let me know whether you are interested in the collection and in the meantime

I am, Sir,

Yours respectfully,

As I am not able to call this morning for my coins, as fixed yesterday with Mr. Noe, I would ask you, kindly to hand them over to the bearer of this letter, my Secretary Miss that I can send you a cheque.

With many thanks for your favours
